Bradley E. Rozman Brad Rozman discovered a love for drumming at a young age and pursued this passion with vigor for the rest of his life. In the early days, he formed garage bands with musician friends and led the drum line in the Virginia High School marching band. He studied percussion performance at St. Cloud State University and the University of Illinois-Urbana and was involved in many music-making endeavors in the Duluth area after graduate school. Brad's life was cut short in May 2009 when he died unexpectedly of a seizure.
